

I Am
A PHOENIX™

Most employees talk about dedication; servicemen and servicewomen know what it is to live it. Like me, a number of my fellow University of Phoenix graduates are either current or former military personnel. Our training has instilled in us qualities that can't be gained through civilian life. The qualities that make us good soldiers also make us good employees. University of Phoenix graduates aren't simply prepared with classroom theory; we're equipped with life experience.

Reign CLASS OF 2008